

Thank you for taking the time to read this newsletter & my apologies again for its length. I tried as best as I could to trim it down but more and more synchronicity kept pouring in around the theme that had emerged.

Synchronicity though is a good and following it up is a path I would recommend. It does mean we are less able to do any medium to long term goal setting and that certainly feels as though we are being squeezed into the 'now'. However there is an old saying that being in the 'Now' is a 'Gift, which is why they call it the 'Present'.

In this month's newsletter you will read about some of the many kind people that have gifted me with lots of helpful information and wisdom over the last few years. I will now try and share some of this with you in the only two good ways that it can be done – by making statements and by asking questions.

The place to start though is with the 'Now' and the general perception of the situation that mankind is currently in right 'Now' with the growing division and separation we see all around us.

I am therefore going to start with a look the subject of Collapse, Freedom & Reason as a way of providing a foundation. This includes sayings from a man who has been described as the greatest Englishman who ever lived.

I then want to take a closer look at what the great separation is really all about in a section titled the 'The struggle for Spirituality'. There is a key difference here from feeling divided and from the feeling of separation and we very much need to accept one rather than the other before we can progress. Throughout the rest of the newsletter, I touch upon ways to look at how this separation can be ended.

In the Science section, we look back at an experiment and some messages from that, which were sent to me this last month and which formed the 2nd Acausal connecting event in the synchronicity that I mentioned earlier.

This opens up the topic of how we are being helped, by whom and just how much is riding on our success at overcoming this separation.

With a short stop to look at some of the problems in Rome, I want you to consider a question. We have heard widely about a Da Vinci code through books and a film, but in this letter, I would ask you to consider if a couple of pieces of art from the great master has led to a Leonardo Da Vinci prophecy.

It seems possible because of a touch of suppression and misdirection that has been uncovered, but I will let you be the judge of that.

The subject matter we cover in contemplating this conundrum then leads me to the 1st Acausal connecting event in the synchronicity that hit me this month. The surprise for me here was that it was this final piece of the jigsaw that opened up the way for the theme of this newsletter to emerge.

Following this theme, we arrive at the Books section and here I write about a book that is wrong in parts and right in parts. The authors did nothing wrong here though as we all make mistakes and I think that they did a wonderful job of raising curiosity at the time. For example they introduced an intriguing concept titled the 'Great lost Secret of Freemasonry'. With the information in this newsletter, you will begin to see just what this is really all about and how the two authors missed it back then when they wrote the book.

In the Earth Energies section we look at another major type 4 alignment running through the UK and Europe and some of its fascinating sacred sites. The ley has been tracked to run through an incredible site that the locals call their own 'Stonehenge'.

One of the main connections made in this newsletter then necessitated the need for me to put together a new 'photoshopped' image of the effects from lots of people gathering in group meditation at the strong sacred sites across Southern England.

In the Media section, I have added something I just could not add in my novel 'The Grail Hunter'. It is only a '3min' music video so please do sit back and listen to it. It really will take you away and lift up your spirits.

In the 'Other' section, there is a good news update on the new sacred network website as well as some other information that I hope is of interest to you.

The Prism

You might easily now wonder how one theme might connect all of the previous subjects my thanks here goes to a lovely lady called Adele who brought up the concept of a prism of light during the discussion modules a group of us have been testing for nearly two years now.

There is a slight twist to this though.

I deliberately turned the above image around as we are used in the West to reading things from left to right. I did so in the hope that you might consider a reverse process at work.

Looking at it this way allows us to see several different frequencies of light (colours) streaming through the prism and into one beam of white light. I see this as a beautiful analogy for what must be now achieved.

There is a necessary precision to this to be successful and any disturbance to the different starting frequencies will mean a dirty off white end result. For those of you who read my November 2021 newsletter and the 'Play' that covers some of the latest scientific developments in manipulation of light, you will perhaps know just how easy it is for others to distort light and how it can then affect us in negative ways.

We may well be in for a bit of a struggle to avoid this kind of distortion and I cover this in the section titled 'The struggle for our Spirituality'.

To begin though, if you have not already guessed who, I would like to introduce you to an amazing person who lived over 200 years ago.

Freedom and Reason

He lived his life between 1737 and 1809 and he spent most of his life in the UK, France and America. He has been more recently described as the Greatest Englishmen that ever lived.

He was a writer and a philosopher who played a role in both the French revolution and the American revolution.

In the case of the latter he specifically helped bring about the American independence from Britain with President Benjamin Franklin bringing him across the Atlantic in order to help achieve this.

Two of his best known books are the 'Rights of Man' and the 'Age of Reason'.

The inventor Thomas Edison once said "I have always regarded him as one of the greatest of all Americans"

If you have not already guessed his name you may well be wondering just who this person is and why you have not heard about him before. The reason for this is that the 'Establishment' in the UK at the time (which included the political and religious community) hated him because of what he did and what he wrote about.

Here are some of his sayings:-

"The World is my country, all mankind are my brethren, and to do good is my religion."

"These are the times that try men's souls."

"He who is the author of a war lets loose the whole contagion of hell and opens a vein that bleeds a nation to death."

"Reason obeys itself; and ignorance submits to whatever is dictated to it."

"The most formidable weapon against errors of every kind is reason."

"We can only reason from what is; we can reason on actualities, but not on possibilities".

"An army of principles can penetrate where an army of soldiers cannot."

"We have it in our power to begin the world over again."

You may well find yourself agreeing with the sentiment behind all of these as well as seeing how appropriate they are now again today.

His name was Thomas Paine. (For a short summary of his life - https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Thomas_Paine)

Thomas Paine stood for Freedom and Reason.

His most famous work, The Rights of Man, was published in 1791, 2 years after the French Revolution. In it he defended the values of the Revolution - 'Liberté, Égalité, Fraternité' (Liberty, Equality, Brotherhood/Sisterhood').

Paine explored the idea that government based on true justice should support not only mankind's natural rights like life, liberty, free speech, freedom of conscience, but also its civil rights relating to security and protection.

He highlighted the fact that only a fraction of the people who paid taxes were entitled to vote. Using detailed calculations, Paine showed how a tax system, including a form of income tax, could provide social welfare in support of those civil rights.

He was decades ahead of his time. He outlined a plan covering widespread education, child benefit, pensions for the elderly, relief for the poor and much more. His book 'Rights of Man' sold tens of thousands of copies and became one of the most widely read books in the Western world at the time.

There were a few that were none-to-pleased and this small group is mirrored today by another small group of people.

With the war on the truth now growing fast, and the Davos/World Economic Forum/NATO/MIC and their puppet mainstream media are now growing desperate to label the truth as disinformation and to crush any kind of debate that might lead to freedom, reason and logic breaking through.

Paine would have been mortified.

Social media platforms are suppressing any kind of dissent and this is where I am really hopeful that the new sacred network platform on the encrypted Edge blockchain network can play an important part in both searching and spreading the truth when it comes to the struggle for our spirituality.

You see, the Globalists know that it does not take many of us to 'begin the World over again'.

They also know that civilisations easily collapse and that this represents a massive opportunity for them.

The anthropologist Sir John Glubb once wrote, "The life-expectation of a great nation, it appears, commences with a violent, and usually unforeseen, outburst of energy, and ends in a lowering of moral standards, cynicism, pessimism and frivolity."

History also tells us that complex systems regularly give way to failure.

The American poet and journalist Walt Whitman saw his own 19th century American civilisation collapsing and wrote "We had best look our times and lands searchingly in the face, like a physician diagnosing some deep disease."

In more modern times it has been written that "if our civilization collapses, it won't be because of an outside attack, it will be because of those among us who, like parasites, destroy us from within".

What gets us in the end though is our own moral catastrophe. The problem is within us. If our civilization is collapsing, it's because something in each of us is collapsing.

To avoid collapse we need to rebuild our inner selves, we need to strengthen our own inner weaknesses.

The reason for this is the same reason why civilisations endure.

They endure because we find meaning in life within them. They endure through art and conversation and ritual and they endure when we show love and compassion for the sick and the elderly.

It is through this endurance that we create a civilised World, or indeed, a new civilised World.

This can only happen though when we come together and communicate in friendly ways with one another – even though we know we are all different and that we have different views.

All the globalists need to do though is to spread division by creating a polarity between us all, and one of the greatest most successful ways they do this, is to misguide us.

You see this kind of division by polarity is not the same as separation and I will take a look at this in a deeper way shortly.

In the meantime, I want to add some sayings from Rudolf Steiner as this brings the collapse of civilisations and the transitions into new and healthy ones more up to date and why what we are facing now is so very different.

This key difference is down to the changing energetic environment.

Rudolf Steiner

Steiner here is referring to the changes of the Epochs and our transitioning between each one. He states that we are currently in the 5th Epoch and about to enter the 6th. (The precise timing of each epoch has in the past been open to debate and it is entirely possible these are not equal lengths of time and we do also know that transitioning takes time and occurs at different rates geographically as well as individually. We must consider that cycles within cycles may at first seem chaotic but that does not mean there is not structure rhythm and meaning behind them.)

“Every age is one of transition. The point is to know what is in transition in any particular age”

“... the faculties of humanity as a whole — in this case more particularly the faculties of soul — change fundamentally from one period to another; they change because a very real evolution takes place in every such period” “

....the purpose of the Fifth Post-Atlantean epoch is that mankind shall become free enough to be enlightened about certain truths, hitherto kept in the more unconscious region of the human soul, and to master them.”

“What mankind attains, through the purification of the thought, leads us to recognize the spiritual behind everything.

Struggles occur repeatedly in world and human evolution.

"I have told you that the spirits of darkness are going to inspire their human hosts, in whom they will be dwelling, to find a vaccine that will drive all inclination towards spirituality out of people's souls when they are still very young, and this will happen in a roundabout way through the living body."

In future, children will be vaccinated so that they do not develop foolish inclinations connected with spiritual life" ('foolish' here, of course, in the eyes of the materialists –R.D.).

"People will be inoculated against their disposition towards spiritual ideas". "The materialistic physicians will be entrusted with the task of expelling the souls from mankind".

That he predicted all this back in 1916 is quite incredible but this is not quite the point I want to make here.

The key take away from this is that we recognise we are in a transition and we are in a struggle for our spirituality and this now needs to be considered in the light of the difference between division by polarity and separation.

What a few psychopaths want to believe is that, if you have been vxd, you will not be able to evolve spiritually – This is misguided information.

And it is actually not what Steiner is saying here!

Instead he is reporting what will be tried.

If we consider the analogy of the prism and the rainbow colours of light, we are heading back through the prism into the white light.

All that has happened is that those who have made the mistake, for whatever reason, will find it a touch harder to bring their frequency into alignment with everyone else's. Nature always leaves us with a choice.

All they will need to do is to alter their frequency a bit more precisely as we pass through the transition zone within the prism.

You see the grand design is that everyone needs to evolve – no one is being left behind – we will just have our different paths. Even the psychopaths will be brought through (although their path will probably be quite rough towards the end).

What I will be covering later in this newsletter is just how we know this and how important choice still is here.

Essentially, we are being helped and we can choose the path we wish to take and that last part will make all the difference in regards to where and how we end up.

The help we are being given now is actually all being done to help us make the right choice to go down the right path.

The struggle for spirituality

In my March 22 newsletter I wrote a bit about the struggle for spirituality not being about opposites.

I wanted to also point out that the idea of opposites was intentionally divisive as that kind of division weakens us. One of the ways it weakens us is when it comes to thinking about a solution. Thinking in terms of opposites leaves us wondering how millions of people who think one way can ever get on and live together with people who think the opposite way.

When we look at the problem in this polarised way, we are doomed to failure because we need to believe something is possible for our subconscious mind to be able to be creative enough to help us by providing possible solutions. Thus is precisely why the psychopaths do this as they do not want these solutions. Their aim is to divide us in order to conquer us and then completely control us.

They have been seeking to divide us for many centuries. In the old days they did this by constantly referring to good and evil.

In the Bible they refer to this great separation of mankind in Matthew ch3, v12 where they talk about separating the wheat from the chaff.

“The good will be saved, the evil will be burnt in the fires of hell”.

Here we see deliberate division into opposites and this allows them to create all sorts of military campaigns to grab wealth and power over neighbouring lands and their people.

Megiddo –Armageddon

In Revelations ch.16 v.16, the Roman church writes in the bible “And he shall gather them together into a place which in Hebrew is called Armageddon. Here the Angels, with those they had gathered, are pitted against the Devil, and all those they had gathered.”

You will understand the reason I have added this later in the newsletter. For now though, the ancient city of Megiddo (now called Tell el-Mutesellim) is about 60 miles north of Jerusalem in a North-central part of Palestine.

It overlooks the great Plain of Esdraelon where many great ancient battles took place. Megiddo is also the older Hebrew form of Armageddon or Har-Magedon meaning the Mount or Hill of Megiddo, or the Hill of Battles.

In the book of Zechariah in the bible it is written that “At the very moment of the Second Coming of our Lord, ‘all nations’ shall be gathered ‘against Jerusalem to battle’ and the battle of Armageddon will be in progress”.

As the Apostle John expressed it, “The kings of the earth and of the whole world’ will be gathered ‘to the battle of that great day of God Almighty, ... into a place called in the Hebrew tongue Armageddon.”

Again and again we are being drawn into the bible's propaganda here that two armies will do battle in one great good versus evil event – an Armageddon. Even today, we hear the word being used by the mainstream media as a way of reinforcing this good versus evil narrative.

What I find slightly intriguing here is why this location was chosen. Later I will bring to your attention reasons why this and other similar locations are really very metaphorical and actually very significant for us all on a global scale.

Walking the right path

The secret is to think of separation in a non-polarised way – only then can we find that the solution is actually within us and also very manageable and doable – just as we find it is within us to create civilisations that endure either to avoid collapse or to build them anew after they collapse.

To arrive at the solution though we must fully recognise the reality of the actual problem we face.

We are not divided in just two ways but in many, many ways. We are not just one side or the other; we are actually on a side of our own.

In addition to that, this individual way of seeing things is increasing and is again something that Rudolf Steiner has predicted as one of the main characteristics of the 6th Epoch that we are transitioning into and why we are all in a spiritual struggle.

This great separation has nothing to do with the forces of good and the forces of evil – but instead something happening deep within us.....

.....Our perceptions of reality are changing

In my last newsletter, I wrote about how our visual perceptions were changing and I covered subjects like astronaut's eye and the changing colour of the Sun.

This visual perception is not the only aspect that is being affected. Our auditory and kinaesthetic perceptions of the one reality are also being affected as our minds are being increasingly affected by these increasing cosmic energies.

What this means is that we each end up with our own views and ideas of what is right and what makes sense.

Back in 1916, Rudolf Steiner predicted that:-

“In the sixth epoch a common consciousness will lay hold of the then civilized humanity” & “The fruits of belief today will depend upon the single individuality.”

“In every sphere of religion in the sixth epoch, complete freedom of thought will so lay hold of people that what a person likes to believe, whatever religious convictions they hold, will rest wholly within the power of their own individuality.”

“Collective beliefs among communities will no longer influence those who constitute the civilized portion of humanity in the sixth epoch of culture.” (Civilized here is referring to those people who can recognise what his happening and who have learnt to adapt with the changes – R.D.)

“Everyone will feel that complete freedom of thought in the domain of religion is a fundamental individual right.”

Just think what is happening around the World at the moment and even locally amidst your friends and colleagues.

Finding anyone who holds the same views/perspectives/opinions as ourselves is becoming harder and harder because of the increasing differences in our perceptions and how we each now have our own view of what reality really is and what the truth really is.

This growing ‘common consciousness’ is individualising every one of us more and more such that we all have widening different views from everyone else.

You might at first think this would be disastrous but actually it turns an insurmountable problem (Division) into a solvable one (Separation).

Before I go into the solution here, just consider the following differences of opinion:-

There are some people who want a fully centralised World with one World government and one World currency, whilst there are others who would prefer many more nations than there are now all of which are under sovereign control by the people in that nation who recognise the importance of national identity and culture for all nations and wish to trade between them all in fair ways.

There are some who like Fiat paper money system but who want to turn it into Central Bank digital money without paper cash, whilst there are others would be prefer sound money that they can keep themselves should they wish to and to be able to make transactions without going through any intermediary. (Sound money meaning backed by something like Gold/Silver/Oil/Gas/etc)

There are those who support the Military Industrial Complex and NATO offence globalist armed forces who are more than happy for them to be an ‘offence’ force in order to carry out whatever agenda they feel is right to carry out in the World, whilst there are those who would prefer a 'defence' force to be solely for the defence of their sovereign nations only.

There are those people (admittedly globally now a very small number) that believe that the events on 9/11 were done and orchestrated by a man in a cave, whilst the majority of people in the World know it was an inside job by a few ultra-wealthy psychopaths just as an excuse to carry out more profitable foreign wars and to take further liberties away from the American people (Patriot Act).

There are still people who think the Covid 19 experimental treatment (which it was technically labelled in order to get around the 'authorisation of use' laws because of the limited trials) was effective against a 'dangerous' virus and that the actions taken (Lockdown, masks etc) were right to be taken, whilst there are an increasing number of other people who know that the treatment made people worse off, led to huge excess deaths and heart problems in young people and who know that the man-made virus was also made by ultra-wealthy members of the pharmaceutical industry who were just looking to make even more profits.

There are those people who will always vote for Left wing parties and who think Right wing voters just don't care about people, whilst those who will always vote for Right wing parties will think negatively too towards Left wing voters. You can insert Democrats and Republicans in here as well as several other names for two party electoral systems found elsewhere in the World

There are those people who just love engines and take pleasure in leisure activities using engine based craft whilst there are others who just prefer to enjoy natural wind or human based power activities in nature.

There are those who prefer Vegan diets, whilst others prefer Vegetarian diets, whilst others prefer a meat & omnivorous diet. Many people in each of these groups do not see eye-to-eye with those in other groups – some even with strong dislikes.

There are some people who can and do take responsibility for their own health who are fit and around an appropriate weight for their body type and activity whilst there are those people who can, but who chose not to, be responsible for their own health who are unfit and obese.

There are still people who smoke modern 'refined' tobacco products who know it is bad for their health and that it is addictive (refined additives) but who still choose to do this activity knowing that this might cost other people damage to their health through passive smoking. They also know that they may rely on the good will of others if the need to receive medical help due to their smoking activity whilst there are non-smokers who do take responsibility for their health and who do not take up the expensive time and space in hospitals whilst there are also people who do not mind smokers because they make so much profit out of selling them tobacco products or pharmaceuticals products when then need them to help manage the ill health of the smokers.

There are those people whose sole aim in life is to do no work but to instead live off those who do work through the 'financialisation' of their assets, whilst there are other people who chose to work, even when they do not have to, so they can help others either by being entrepreneurial and producing items that people need or by devoting themselves to caring and helping for others in need.

There are those people who think the science is settled and that climate change is man-made and there are those who believe the wind and solar power can replace fossil fuels whilst there are other people who know science is not settled by models and consensus of opinion but by facts and observations. They know pollution is bad for all humanity but they also know that our Sun and energy from Space is what has always driven our changing weather patterns whilst there are others who just don't mind polluting the World as long as they can make increased profits.

There are people who believe nearly everything the politicians and their mainstream media tell them whilst there are a growing number of people who know, or sense, that we are continually being lied to in order to follow a narrative set by another group of people who want more control and more profits over everyone else.

There are a number of people who know that there are good people working in positions of authority in the Police and in the Legal frameworks of countries who are fighting to stop paedophiles abducting or grooming young people whilst there are others who are either apathetic, or who are knowingly benefitting for one reason or another, who are also in these positions of authority, who are also actively engaged in these despicable activities and who do everything they can to also stop information like this reaching the mainstream news.

In addition to this, there are those would want to ban the use of cars, whilst others don't.

There are people who prefer to be alone, whilst others prefer company.

There are tastes in occupations, music, pets, gender identity, sports clubs, drinks etc.

With all these variables, it is almost impossible to find someone who feels the same way as you do on all the above preferences and choices.

Even over time, we change and our preferences and choices can change. People also change their minds on subjects at different times of their life as well.

With our perceptions of reality changing and our opinions are changing because of that, there is no way we will ever agree with anyone anymore unless, within ourselves. we choose to change how we get on with each other.

There is no way people will ever agree on anything anymore in this increasing energetic environment

.....because it is leading to common consciousness where all beliefs are held individually.

We need to recognise the futility here in getting everyone to think the same way as we do.

Instead we need to reframe the way we think (heart mind and head mind) about how we get on with others and how we can work together.

I see 3 necessary stages here.

The 1st stage is acceptance of this new reality and the different perceptions it is giving everyone. This requires us to realise that our individual consciousness is changing and we are moving into common, or group, consciousness.

The 2nd stage is to look for the benefits that can come from having people with very different perspectives from ourselves in this common consciousness because we are all being affected by this new kind of consciousness.

The 3rd stage is recognising we need to begin to work in groups composed of people with very different perspectives. If we cannot learn to get along with people different from us, we are not going to be able to operate in this new energetic environment.

We are never going to agree with one another. No one is ever going to follow another person or group or leader. Indeed this is why we are starting to see so much trouble in the World right now.

Those in power are already feeling that power ebb away from them. They know more and more people do not believe them and their increasing fear is turning to panic and even more drastic decisions like arming the police and putting their armies on the streets.

We cannot live with fear based decisions, we need to make better choices and it is here that we can begin to see a way forward and this is helped again by the prism of light.

Individually embracing change within us, overcoming our fears of those who think differently from us, is the same as the overlapping frequencies of the colours of the rainbow as the different frequencies stay the same but join with the others to make one white light.

Think of this white light in terms of all our feelings and turning negative ones in their positive counterparts and fusing them all together.

When you do this you end up with unconditional love and compassion.

When a few of us start doing this, more will be drawn to do the same.

Before long, even those who would normally oppose our individual thinking on many of the viewpoints, will be drawn into groups. The key learn for them will be that they don't have to change their thinking as the people in the groups learn the need of valuing different cultural identities, different perspectives and different viewpoints.

Indeed different perceptions coming together to solve the Worlds future problems is exactly what we will likely need for survival as a species.

This is all very well said, but much harder to do. Fortunately though, we are being helped.

The first step though is up to us and that is to walk the path of synchronicity. The path has several names – The Grail path, the Cathar path, the path of Individuation but all could really be called the Sacred path.

Many people are now doing this and, the ones that I am aware of are truly astonished by what it brings them.

This now brings me to the synchronicity that struck me a few weeks ago now. For me, it shows that, not only are we really being helped, but we also get a glimpse of who is helping.

As to why perhaps think back to our own frequency 'being within' the prism with the coloured light beginning to merge with the other frequencies.

We are being helped towards the white light.

Science section

Around 10 years ago I was both fortunate and privileged to have been invited onto an email group consisting of some amazing people & leaders in their fields - Scientists, Philosophers, Mediums, Healers and Psychic investigators. They were all friends of the first Scientist ever who came up with a complete theory of quantum gravity – the Holy Grail in physics - Ron Pearson.

One of the gentlemen in the group was an Engineer called Alan Richardson who was a close friend of Ron's. His small team of supporters helped him for over 25 years so that he could complete his work and his service to humanity – a service he knew that in his lifetime, he would never be recognised and accepted for. My role now is to get him that acceptance because everything he did has provided us with a strong scientific foundation for all spiritual thinking and practice. This considerably intensifies our beliefs and results in a much greater effectiveness in all that we do.

This last month Alan sent me an email containing content that he kindly thought would be of interest to me. I should say here that for those of you who don't know, I have been working for the last few years on developing a series of modules designed to help groups of different people come together. It is done by studying several spiritually related subjects that all link up towards something I call the Universal prophecy. This is a name that I have given to the many prophecies found around the World that all relate to a future cyclic event that the human race experiences roughly every 12,000 years.

Right now, I have three groups who are testing these modules and we are in the middle of looking at Black Elks great vision in great detail.

Alan's email made a big and timely connection to that work. It was not however the first acausal synchronistic event – 1st events are never easy to spot because the synchronicity is only ever recognised with the arrival of the 2nd event – this is then time to explore what information is coming through to you. The 1st acausal event, I will write about later in the newsletter, because this was equally impactful and part of an ongoing synchronicity in its own right.

What I was unaware of, until very recently, was that Alan had become one of the trustees of the material that came through from the Scole investigations and it was a small section of this he wished to bring to my attention as he knew about my work with the Earth energies.

The Scole Experiment began in 1993 in the village of Scole in Norfolk. Later on, between 1995 and 1998, a scientific team was put together to investigate and validate what was happening.

The team consisted of Arthur Ellison – A professor of Electrical Engineering, Montague Keen – a Historian & David Fontana – a Professor of Psychology.

There were also two witnesses and recorders called Sandra Foy and Robin Foy. Diana Bennett and Alan Bennett were the two mediums doing the channelling and it was they, that had managed to communicate with a 13 member Council of 'Beings'. They were referred to as the Council of Communion.

At the end of the experiment, the scientists put together a report which became widely known as 'The Scole report'.

It was immediately denigrated by large swathes of physicists all because it evidenced life after death and communications with 'Beings' from another matter frequency World than our own – something their theories would not allow any possibility for. Fortunately for us, Ron Pearson’s theory of quantum gravity explains it all both neatly and nicely. If you want to read about his books – click here

Permission to give you the information that was sent to me from Alan came from the curators of these materials Grant and Jane Solomon. More about their work and for further details on the Scole experiments – click here

The Afterlife investigations – The Scole report (1hr 28min video)

Click here for details on the Scole report

What Alan had sent to me came from information that came through from the Council of Communion in 1994. I have compiled the relevant sentences in regards to my own Earth Energy research from that information. I have also made bold certain phrases for easier reading.

“What I’m going to tell you now, there’s columns of energy that rise up from various places within the Earth. I’m calling them columns so you can visualize them. That does not mean that they are two foot or six foot or a hundred foot in diameter. They are pure spiritual energy.

They fluctuate, moving in and out. The faster they fluctuate the faster the vibration. And they are all over the place but they are not everywhere. There are gaps between the columns of energy.

They are passages of communication with the spirit world. You will find a tremendous boost in your communication which you have within yourself

There are many columns of energy rising up all over the world, standing up. They are a link between the material world and the spirit realms.

A member of the 13 member Council of Communion spoke- It’s your own body to be tuned and switched on by the energies, and allow yourself to be switched on to it. Some people have a greater ability to tune in.

When a healer heals it does not matter if the person being healed is in tune. It’s the healer in tune with the columns of energy that makes the healing work.

The columns shift themselves or they can stay where they are. They gather where they are needed.

They are used as pathways between the spirit realms and spirits can pass down these columns and make themselves known if they wish.

I see a flowing of energy passing through this circle you have here, rising up from within the circle and within this there are millions and millions of lights.

It's an ever flowing continuous energy. Ley lines is a word that's been used by man to describe what he felt existed between the columns.

There are links between some of these columns. The links cannot be increased at the moment. The churches do not add energy to the columns.

It is spiritual Earth energy. It is the link between the Earth and spiritual energy. There are patterns over several miles. It is a great abundance of energy which is flowing. You get like whirlpool's which form. (Vortexes-R.D.)

The people of the past were well aware of the energy pattern's.

The member of the 13 member Council of Communion has an interest in these columns and those that have an interest in these columns, it can be used for good.

It's like a network where these columns exist."*

I don't feel I have to add any comment to these statements from the 13 representatives of the Council of Communion aside from pointing out that these columns gather where they are needed.

I have always found that where permission is given to repair and move nodes, they always end up in accessible places.

I would also draw your attention to asking who are these 13 members of the council might be. I will look at this question and why they want to help us later on in this newsletter but, in another lovely addition to this, I was sent the following information later this month on Buddhist column meditation.

Buddhic Column Meditation

This extra information on these columns of light was passed to me by Chris H. It feels both relevant and timely.

A Buddhist column is a permanent column of something called Buddhic fire. This is said to be linked into the planetary network and the technique to build this column is practiced so that a light vortex can be created in a specific location.

This is said to then help the 'Forces of Light' to further liberate this planet.

It is a very useful technique to create a Light vortex in a location which assists the Light Forces to liberate this planet.

To do this a column of light is visualised to go around 9 miles up to 5 pointed star. A white fire is then visualised to come from the centre of the galaxy to this star, as well as to many other locations in our solar system, and then down the column of light and down to the centre of the Earth.

The next step is to visualise the connection of all Buddhic columns being made on Earth to create a network of light and any other point of light as guided by the Ascended Beings (Masters).

Doing this is said to carry dark entities and dark energies up the columns to the 5 pointed star that is now within a network of bright light.

RD – Aside from the helpful information for meditation, I would draw your attention to the phrase Ascended Beings. We will touch again on this later on.

Montague Keen

I have one more piece of additional information that I would like to add here. It comes from Montague Keen who was one of the scientists and investigators who sat in with the Scole experiments and who was also a contributor to the small email group that I was in.

The following is a message he sent out on April 27th 2014 (two years before he passed over.)

The first part of the message has been omitted as it was of a personal nature about another person who had just passed over and I have added bold as these words are relevant to the leylines.

I believe the message back then is every bit as relevant as it is today:-

“.....the Cabal is becoming careless. Its activities are becoming more obvious to those of you who are awake. All that was masked and hidden from view, you must now research and act upon.

I ensured that Veronica (Montague's wife) watched the YouTube video, BEHIND THE GREEN MASK by Rosa Koire, to ensure that she could see clearly what was being done to take control of Planet Earth. What they are doing they dress up in language that suggests that it is all for your benefit. They want to take everything from you and leave you helpless and hopeless.

Are you going to allow this to happen without standing up for your inalienable rights? Those who are SELLING you the Green Agenda are implementing Agenda 21. They are using all sorts of camouflage in order to fool you and confuse you, and lull you into a false sense of security.

You are intelligent beings of light who are now stepping into the light. You are refusing to behave like sheep which are easily led. They have hidden Agenda 21 in so many different guises in an attempt to fool you. You must understand that they will never, ever, do anything that would benefit you. They do not want you but they do want what you have!

They want control of your world, with just a few of you alive, to be their slaves. You do not have time to waste. You must remember that together, you are strong. Many of those in the ARMY are beginning to recognise that they are just killing machines, carrying out Agenda 21. Some of these soldiers are now refusing to kill again. This fact, alone, is a great step forward.

I implore you to keep up the meditations on the obelisks and ley lines. You are seeing the results, though some may not be fully aware of this as yet. You are releasing the Earth's energies; restoring your planet to the light. Every effort, no matter how small, is important and necessary.

The 1st May, BELTAINE, is a day on which to redouble your efforts, as the Cabal will be using its energies against you. Simply return to them, what they are sending to you. I told you that 2014 is a most important year. The next few months are extremely important, so please put as much effort as possible into your meditations.

Forget race or religion: you are the human race, struggling for your survival.

Together, we will ensure that your planet will survive the attacks of the Cabal. It is important that you do not accept anything at face value, no matter how it is dressed up to fool you. It is not in the Cabal's interest to help you in any way at all.

They entrap those whose mission it is to release humanity from bondage. I ask that you send love and light to one individual who is being manipulated and controlled at this time in order to try to prevent him completing his mission. Every method is being used against him: mind control, sleep deprivation, opiates in food, etc. He is going through a terrible ordeal and he needs your help to enable him to release himself from this trap.

Yet again, I remind you that nothing is as it seems. Keep this in mind and it will help you to see through the propaganda that is designed and used to entrap you. The advertising world is run by the Cabal and its purpose is to deceive you into believing that you cannot live without their products. The most heavily promoted products are the ones that will do you the most harm. Everything that would actually benefit you, is removed and controlled. They are systematically destroying your planet and many of you are assisting them.

But no career is worth the destruction of all that is necessary for Man to survive. The bottom line is that you are killing your own race, and yourself as well. Can you look at your reflection in the mirror and say, "I never did anything that would endanger humanity or my planet". You are living in treacherous times. You have everything to lose unless you take positive action. We, in Spirit, are doing our utmost to help you through this, but we need your input.

Together, we can do it.

It takes courage to stand up for truth and justice and to refuse to be bought off by false promises or the prospect of an easy life. Refuse to poison your fellow man with flouride which is added to the water supply. Refuse all products that contain it. Check all foods for the poisons which have been added, often under several different names, in an attempt to confuse you. They change the names of additives which they know can cause illness and distress. Remember, there are no SIDE EFFECTS; in reality, there are only EFFECTS.

All factions of the Cabal are now fighting amongst themselves. They are fighting for their survival. This is when they will make mistakes, so please be observant at all times. There is no honour among thieves. Look behind the public facade and see the true picture. This infighting has taken them by surprise. They were not prepared.

All the stargates on your planet are heavily guarded by the most evil REPTILIANS. You need the help of very powerful psychics to remove them. But you can also use your minds to accomplish this.

Your ley line work will disturb them, so direct your energies to the stargates and consciously free them. Remove the reptilians. Use the POWER OF LOVE to connect with the stargates, as the reptilians cannot survive in an atmosphere of love. It is only your fear and stress that makes them seem powerful.

The OBELISKS, the LEY LINES, and THE ARK OF THE COVENANT, ARE WHAT YOU NEED TO CONNECT WITH, AND TO ACTIVATE, URGENTLY. YOU HAVE ALL THAT YOU NEED TO REMOVE EVIL AND RESTORE YOUR PLANET AND HUMANITY.

What are you waiting for?

Wake up to the power of your minds: use them to restore peace, health and happiness to your world.

Many return to Earth with missions to fulfil. They are often lured off course, and this is confusing; for despite the change in their path, you still want to believe in them. However, there is nothing to say that they will not return to the honest path. They have FREE WILL.

So check to see whether a person is on the right path or not.

Fear is a weapon of the Cabal.

Some people become so fearful that they are too scared to go against the Cabal, or they become infatuated by material gain. Things change from day to day. Those within the Cabal are experts at controlling people and they have had many years of experience.

ROME

Concentrate on Rome, as the collapse of the Vatican will bring down all that is corrupt in your world. The face they show you, bears no resemblance to what is actually happening or to what they are planning. Do not be fooled by their carefully selected words which they hope will lure you into submission. For words is all they are. They have no substance and they are not to be trusted. One day soon, you will look back in wonder at what you have achieved by working together and acting as one. You will see that you were able to restore the Earth's energies to humanity.

Be kind to yourself, my dear. We need you to keep your strength up.

I wish to thank all who support our work. We are a great team.

With....." (I have omitted the personal sign off message – RD)

Rome

Of the many things that stood out for me, it was actually the mention of Rome that made me think. I had read this again hours after having had a long conversation with a man called Qadir after several people had minded me about his work.

Qadir is a soul rescuer. This may seem a strange title for some people to get their heads around and indeed many might well ask just what a soul rescuer does and why.

To understand this you will first need to accept the existence of the Afterlife and that when we die, that part of us that lives on, make its way across to the World of Spirit.

It is not a journey that is as easy as it might sound. The journey has been given its representation in many ways, by many cultures, over the centuries. In Roman times it was Charon who was the ferryman who took souls over the River Styx to the Underworld.

More recently Goethe, in his Fairy tale, referred to the Journey across the same river from the land of the senses to the land of Spirit.

Steiner referred to this as the Abyss and others talk about it being the zone of darkness and the 'False Astral'

Problems sometimes occur when people die unexpectedly. Their 'mind', during life, may have been given no concept of the afterlife when they were living, so it comes as a bit of a surprise to many of them.

Some people are filled with fear when they die and a few of these run away from any help they are given. This often then leads them to being trapped in this 'in between world' zone.

There are several ways that can be carried out that can help these lost and trapped souls but that is not a subject for this newsletter. What is relevant here, is that souls can also become imprisoned on purpose and trapped that way between the Worlds.

Imprisoned souls are ones that have been deliberately trapped by 'minimally evolved' 'Beings'. The reason is that they themselves relish the feeling of fear they get from their prisoners when they do this. This fear seems to energise them (It gives them Loosh – a different kind of energy) in ways that help them achieve some of their lower materialistic goals here on this physical matter frequency system.

You might like to recall that earlier in the newsletter, the council of nine referred to 'cutting the ley lines' to trap souls. We are now beginning to understand how this was done. The good news is that there are several ways souls trapped like this can be released.

Qadir was explaining to me how he sets up love beacons to help release these imprisoned souls and I had been directing him to a place I knew there was a massive problem – the Palatine hills of Rome – a location where dastardly emperors like Caligula and Domitian had their playground palaces and underground torture chambers. Rome too was also a place where there had been a long line of incredibly evil minded popes.

Qadir had just got back to me having done some preliminary investigations – the problem was huge.

The good news is that many thousands of imprisoned souls will be released now and the energy the cabal used to feed on is being drained fast. An interview Qadir did recently with Jackie White can be seen here

More about Qadir's work can be discovered by clicking on this link

Rescuing souls in Rome is unfortunately only part of the work that needs to be done there. A very powerful node needs to be repaired just to the South of Rome and to do that further work has to be done on the Palatine hills and a minimum team of three people are needed who have done at least my level 1 dowsing course would be needed. Sufficient funding would also be necessary. So if anyone who has done my courses would like to be involved, you know how to get in touch. We can put together a special trip so others can join in. I will see what the Universe brings for next year.

From having touched upon Rome, this now leads us to a man who, perhaps surprisingly, only spent three years there between 1513 and 1516. That man was Leonardo da Vinci.

It is here that I would like you to consider the following question:-

Has Leonardo Da Vinci given us a part of the Universal prophecy?

A Da Vinci Prophecy?

To get to this question we need to first start with a few more.

Why did Leonardo da Vinci paint two almost exactly similar paintings?

Why have we heard so little about them?

Have a really good look now at each of these paintings.

These two 6 foot tall pictures are both called the Virgin on the Rocks. The version with the Angel in the red dress can be found in the Louvre in Paris, whilst, what is generally considered to be the later version, has the Virgin Mary now in blue dress and no red on the Angel. This version can be seen in the National gallery in London.

They were painted towards the end of the 15th Century and the one in Paris is thought to have been the earlier version.

There are many reasons given as to why Leonardo painted two versions – no one can agree the right reason though. A common one is that the first was commissioned and then sold on to someone else. The original commission still stood so another had to be fulfilled.

There is no actual proof of this though and it is entirely possible that the intention was to do another one because of the desire to convey something that he could not carry out either in the first, or with just one.

Da Vinci may have even wanted us to notice the differences between the two as this was part of his way to convey some kind of message for us all.

Before we look into this, we must consider other works by Leonardo and what he might have been up to.

The more well-known Da Vinci painting is 'The Last Supper'. Leonardo and the painters in his school actually painted two versions of the Last Supper -one on a wall and one as a painting. Each were remarkably similar, much more so than the two versions of Virgin on the rocks.

In the Last Supper painting Jesus is gathered with his disciples for an evening meal. This was a meal where he had supposedly raised his cup and told his disciples to drink from it as though it was his blood. It was this Holy cup that Robert de Boron went on to immortalise in his grail story as a response to Chretien de Troyes success in story telling with the original Grain story being a shallow French dish,

Da Vinci's 'Last Supper' has generated much controversy over the years as some have suggested that the figure to Jesus's right is Mary Magdalene.

There is also no famous cup in sight. Back in the times artists like Da Vinci were around, some painters liked to incorporate hidden messages into their paintings with symbolism being left for clues as to their meaning.

Da Vinci was also thought to have done this in some of his paintings and also in the Last Supper. so we really have to ask why.

Back in those days the Roman Catholic church had its opposition. These were people that preferred a more spiritual, gnostic, approach to life rather than one being controlled by a religion.

They saw the teachings of Jesus as very different from the ones being presented by a corrupt church back then. As a way of supporting the true teachings of Jesus, artists like Leonardo, placed hidden messages within their work using symbolism. With the natural ambiguity in symbols, it easy to show support for an accepted narrative whilst also delivering a hidden message when the symbols were interpreted in other ways.

With this in mind, we should look at these two paintings of the Virgin on the Rocks in a new and different light. Was Leonardo hiding a Spiritual, more gnostic & even a prophetic message here?

Mary is seated in front of the baby Jesus on her left and the baby John the Baptist on her right.

The Angel on the right side of the painting is described in the earlier painting in the Louvre, Paris to be Angel Uriel, whilst the later one in London refers to Angel Gabriel and we have to wonder why this name was changed.

The Angel Uriel, with semi visible wings, is sat next to the baby Jesus, who is holding his right palm up with the hand gesture of a blessing. The whole setting is of course fictitious & made up scene as they never met as babies.

The background scenery also seems to be very much made up too. People say Mary is seated in front of a grotto with a large lake inside it, but the landscape appears geologically impossible with rocks and trees & bushes seemingly suspended in the air. A grotto is also a cave and we can clearly see some landscape underneath and what has been drawn to look more like an arch.

Is this because Da Vinci actually wants us to think of this scene as being unnatural? Is this even a scene on Earth? We have to ask this because of the monolithic nature of the rocks which again do not feel real geologically.

Was this perhaps a vision or a dream that Da Vinci he had, or even one he was creatively inspired to paint? Was it one that had led him to his own interpretation which he then wanted any viewers to go on and interpret for themselves?

In doing these two paintings, it appears that Leonardo is inviting us to look deeper into them both, otherwise why go to such trouble to make the paintings so similar in some ways and yet also different?

Is it about the differences between them? Is it because he was not able to put the clues into the first one? Was the first one possibly even just too hard for others to interpret?

Is that why John the Baptist's long cross and the haloes were included in the second one?

We must also look more into the hand gestures – some of which are the same and some of which are different.

Is the baby John the Baptist trying to tell us to pray? Why is the Angel pointing at John in the first one but in not the second? Is there any significance in the different colours used in each one? What could the hidden message be here?

By representing Jesus and John the Baptist as babies is he asking us to think of the future? Is he indicating that some relationship must have existed before they met as adults and if so how could that be? Why too is it that he chose to paint the Angel Uriel and not another Angel and who was/is Uriel?

With his selection of this particular Angel, we are given a strong clue in regards to what Da Vinci is trying to tell us and it is possibly such a strong clue, that it was why the Angel's name was changed at a later date – one probably well after he had passed over.

This possible answer takes us to the book of Enoch and to the initial question posed.

Is this leading us to the first ever Da Vinci prophecy?

If the answer is yes there may well be fear in the hearts and minds of many in positions of power around the World today if it becomes widely known and discussed.

The reason is that it forces us to look into a strong gnostic message that is shining out at us here about our future and that this is all about a pressing need to develop our own Spirituality rather than accepting the way of the Roman Church.

The first thing to notice is where Leonardo has made the focus of attention?

In the earlier picture the Angel is looking at the baby Jesus but pointing at the baby John.

In the second there is no finger pointing and the Angel is now instead looking towards the baby John.

Even though Uriel is pointing to baby John, she is looking at Jesus so the focus of attention in the first painting is on Jesus. In the second painting there is no strange finger pointing but the Angel is clearly now looking at baby John so the focus in the second is on John.

Why would Da Vinci do this? Is he deliberately placing more emphasis on John, who is clasping his hands together almost beseeching Jesus?

The gnostic answer to this is obvious. St John the Baptist's teachings inspired the religion of Mandaism. This is still alive and well today and is very gnostic in its ways.

In Mandaism, Jesus was not considered as God but instead just a Spiritual teacher in the same way that John was also considered a Spiritual teacher.

Why then did Leonardo introduce John and Jesus as babies in these paintings when it was known they never met until they were much older in life. The possible reason he did was that Gnostic Christians see things differently from the Roman church.

The key difference between the two beliefs was that in Gnosticism death was not the end of life, whereas the Roman church required homage to their leaders and the church until some great day of salvation came in the future when only the good would rise up from the dead.

With spiritual thinking, souls, having crossed the Abyss, were immediately reunited with their loved ones who had previously passed over.

In addition to that Soul groups are known to exist and it is with this in mind that we may be being shown by Leonardo that John and Jesus knew each other long before they chose to return to Earth to carry out their missions.

Da Vinci here is almost forcing us to take note of the probability that they already knew each other well. They were quite possibly even part of the same soul group of higher 'Beings'.

Why now do we see no haloes in the earlier painting and only three haloes in the later one and more interestingly why is there no halo above the Angel Uriel?

What is da Vinci saying here? Leonardo was always extremely precise in what he drew and painted - where even the most subtle of differences can have a meaning. If you have a look at Mary's hand positions in the two paintings you can see that in the earlier one the finger tips on her left hand are slightly more curled under than the more open palm on the later painting.

This subtlety is perhaps more easily recognised by those people who do energy work. The more open palm is indicative of sending protective energy.

Mary here is protecting both John and Jesus with her hands in different ways but, in the way she is doing this here, it allows us to progress our understanding in regards to the nature of this location. Looking at the landscape now, and perhaps why it has been called a grotto by some, is indicating to us that Leonardo wants us to consider that this is a sacred place – a place where the natural energies are strong. Maybe this is why he has also made the location more monolithic.

This idea is perhaps supported by what looks very like a tall dolmen (standing stone) in the background between the rocks.

With the recognition of all these things combined, we can perhaps see that da Vinci is hinting at there being a hidden gnostic message when comparing both his paintings.

What is not obvious yet is the idea of a prophecy.

Prophecies sometimes come to people in dreams or visions. If this is linked to a prophecy, we have to ask if da Vinci is giving us a scene here from a vision.

The clue now seems to be in the different backgrounds and the Angel.

In the earlier painting we find branches and trees above the rocks and a disconnected and very different sky under the arch of the rocks. In the second version, we find a sky that seems to match that found in the grotto behind the main characters.

In addition to that the later painting seems to have accentuated the large expanse of water under the arch. This now makes the landscape in the later painting even more unbelievable.

This could have been done by da Vinci in order to more fully emphasise that this is a vision and not a real place.

This was perhaps needed in order to further emphasise that this is a vision of a sacred site as this now helps us see just how the Angel Uriel has appeared.

Angels were commonly thought to appear at sacred energy sites in the past. If this is a surprise to anyone, there are actually lots of stone circles around Israel and there are many references to the Gilgal in the Old Testament in the bible.

The Hebrew term for Gilgal means 'Circle of Stones'. It is likely that both Jesus and John knew of some of these places and prayed and meditated in them – although you will, not surprisingly, find no references to this in the New Testament.

So why now do we find no halo above the Angel Uriel? This is exactly what da Vinci wants us to ask as it directs us to explore more about Uriel herself.

It is this investigation that Leonardo hopes will lead us to his prophecy and its consequences for us all.

Uriel was one of four Angels who were 'Watchers'.

We come across the Watchers in the book of Enoch which was an ancient Jewish religious work written around 200BC. It was liked later by the gnostic Christians which is why the church banned it in the 4th Century AD.

However Enoch appears in the book of Genesis in the Old Testament bible as someone who God approves of which makes you wonder why the book of Enoch was later banned.

What is really of interest to us is that the first part of the book of Enoch contains details on dream visions and the Watchers.

In addition to that it gives details on Enochian magic and how to summon Angels.

This now adds further support the idea that da Vinci is telling us this picture is a dream vision and one, possibly, where the Angel Uriel has been summoned. (The word 'Summoned' may not be a good translation here. King Solomon used to summon Demons, but here it is perhaps better rephrased as praying for an Angel to appear for some kind of help)

Uriel's name means 'God is my Light' and she is said to hold the key for the end of times. (I have always felt Uriel to be a representation of the divine feminine and not man.)

Uriel was said to have appeared to Noah and his sons to warn him about the coming flood and to prepare accordingly.

One of Uriel's roles is to also 'watch'/assess mankind to see if we deserve to be saved.

It is most likely that it is this knowledge about Uriel that da Vinci is asking us to consider something similar here in his painting.

INTERMISSION

It is at this point that I will have to ask for your forgiveness in advance to say that I will continue with this possible interpretation and question on it being a prophecy a little later on in the newsletter.

We have however now arrived at a time when it is going to be more helpful to introduce you to the 1st Acausal event in the synchronicity that occurred for me this month.

In the last couple of years I have been fortunate to meet some wonderfully gifted and talented people. Many of these find out about the harmony time gatherings and we meet at these.

One of them was a gentleman called Roger Guttridge. Roger has been a successful journalist and author for over 45 years. Click here for his website and more about his work

Just recently he contacted me to ask if he could add some words about my work to a book he is writing. I naturally was happy to agree to this and just a few weeks ago he sent me a copy of the chapter where he kindly mentions my research.

What shocked me, and when I mentioned to Roger, him too, was the connection that had been made to the Council of Nine and how we had both separately become connected to it.

It seems that here was another Council of 'Beings' who had, amongst other things, been impressing on mankind information about the importance of energy lines – amongst several other things too of course.

The Council of Nine

Communications with the Council of nine began in 1952 with three people - a paranormal investigator Andrija Puharich, a scientific researcher and an Indian sage.

The Sage then entered into communication with a group of people who called themselves 'The Nine Principles and Forces' and who told him that their work was being done to 'accentuate the positive, the evolutionary, and the teleological aspects of existence.'

Years later this channelling was continued by a female medium called Phyllis Schlemmer.

In 1993, an Editor called Palden Jenkins put together the first twenty years of these communications in a book called 'The Only Planet of Choice.' The word 'choice' is explained by the council of 9 in the following way 'While other planets do have choice, the consciousness is collective. Only on Earth can a being experience individual choice.'

Aside from this synchronistic event, an earlier synchronicity had come in for me surrounding the Council. A few years ago I had met one of the trustees to Phyllis's written material – Julian M.

Julian had kindly ask me to do a full Geobiological survey on his new retreat in Southern Spain. Shortly after that, I had been invited out to Florida to do some talks and some dowsing tuition.

Before doing these, I had to spend some time checking to see where a pair of type 4 energy lines came ashore from the Atlantic Ocean just to the South of Palm Coast. When I came across the first one, Shannon A. (my host) exclaimed that this was where her friend Phyllis Schlemmer had lived. Indeed the line ran right through her house so I texted Julian, whilst standing outside her house, to let him know of the synchronicity.

When it came to Roger G., he had met the former racing car driver and philanthropist Sir John Whitmore many years ago when doing research on the Council of 9. Sir John had been a strong supporter of Phyllis's work and had written a foreword for the book 'The only Planet of Choice'.

The link and synchronicity here was that Sir John and Julian M. knew each other well and were friends and colleagues. Roger and Julian have now been put in touch with one another other in regards to helping to promote the channelled material from the Council of 9.

The synchronicity for me though was that within only a few days, I heard from Alan R. and his information from the Council of Communion.

I had now received timely information from two different Councils of 'Beings' from the World of Spirit that had information on energy lines and nodes.

This synchronicity did not stop there in regards to the groups, who they most likely represent and their commonality. I will come to that later though.

In the meantime, without going into detail, as I will leave Roger and his book to do that (I will let you know when it is available in a future newsletter) and I am hoping here that he won't mind me mentioning two relevant statements that came through. I would also hope here to whet your appetite to go on and buy his book when it comes out. These are the two statements.

'Opponents to mankind's evolutionary progress had long sought to control mankind for their own ends. They had done this by 'Cutting the Leylines' thereby trapping humans. The phrase used was 'Cutting the Serpent'.

(This is particularly relevant in the light of what you will read later about soul prisons)

*We called Jesus the Nazarene, he was one of us but we are not Gods.

(We look at the word Nazarene later on and what it really probably means and refers to)

At this point in the newsletter, I have mentioned the Council of 13 and the Council of 9. There is more on these and others to come but first I must add some additional information on the Angel Uriel in our quest to learn more about her work and so you can begin to see just how all of these groups and councils come together into something similar.

This now takes me to the Book section.

Book section

The book I want to write about in this newsletter is not actually one that I fully agree with. That does not matter though as there are many excellent books with helpful and correct information in, but ones where the conclusions drawn might not be the ones we would draw today.

At the time of writing though, we cannot blame the author, or in this case authors, as relevant information was unlikely to have been at hand when the book came out.

This particular book was actually a gift my uncle gave me many years ago and I have to say it rather surprised me as I was only beginning to be partially interested in megalithic structures and I certainly had no idea that my Uncle had much of an interest either. It might well though have been the large rocks on the cover and, knowing I was a Geologist, and armed possibly with some Scottish second sight, it might have made him think it was something I needed to read.

Whatever the sense he had, it worked and I did read it over 20 years ago out of curiosity but only parts of it registered. It was only when the theme of this newsletter began to emerge, and when the Angel Uriel popped up, did it catch my eye on my bookshelf. I regularly go through a bit of a purge when it comes to books as they can take up lots of space and I like to only leave significant and relevant ones.

I have to say too that I was slightly surprised that this had survived a couple of purges in the last two decades.

The title of the book is 'Uriel's Machine' and it was written by Christopher Knight and Robert Lomas (1999).

A short synopsis of the book

The premise of the book is that Enoch, a very early, pre-flood, character in the Bible's Old Testament, was given secret information by the Angel Uriel. It is said that he was taught to understand the movements of the Sun, the Moon and the Stars which led him to be able to predict future global catastrophes. Included within the book are some really 'telling' passages taken from the 'Book of Enoch' some of which I am will write more about in a moment.

The authors go on to include a look at the archaeology of some Stone Age megalithic sites and stone temples like those found at the Ring and Ness of Brodgar on the Orkney islands off the North coast of Scotland and Newgrange burial chamber in Ireland. They then proceeded to show how the alignments of these temples were positioned so that these great cataclysmic events could be predicted due to their astronomical connections.

Intriguingly, at the end, they add some riddles that they say still need to be understood.

Both Christopher Knight and Robert Lomas have a strong background in Freemasonry and their knowledge here linked up with that of another Freemason called James Bruce who was the person who re-found the Book of Enoch in Ethiopia. The book had been deliberately left out of the original Vulgate bible when it was put together in the 4th century AD and it would seem that nearly all the copies of the Book of Enoch were destroyed.

It was the secrets the book of Enoch contained, and their own quest in life, that presumably led to them trying to discover what they were.

At the end of the book they describe one of these riddles as a Great lost secret of Freemasonry.

I myself am not a freemason so that allows me to provide a likely solution to this riddle later on. Without wishing to offend anyone, there are two reasons why I would not wish to join an organisation that undoubtedly does some good but which also has a more dubious dark side. This is of course a fact that is not universally accepted.

The first reason I would not wish to join is that I prefer to share important information at the right time and place as the more you share the more new information seems to come through – so secrecy seems to me to be something that exacts a great personal expense. That is obviously not an attractive option for a writer embarked on exposing the truth in the World.

Secondly, I wholly disagree with the concept of 'male only' membership. The time has come to address the obvious male/female imbalance – especially if we are to bring about the even more necessary balance between the 'divine feminine' and 'divine masculine' within individual and group meditation – a subject too that we really need to learn more about. (If you like the idea of what membership to a Masonic society can give you, but not one with a

'Men only' approach, there is a way forward – Le Droit Humain I actually write about this organisation in my novel 'The Grail Hunter')

What interested me this month, after recently seeing the book Uriel's machine on the shelf, was the information contained within it in regards to the Angel Uriel because of the Da Vinci paintings covered earlier in this newsletter.

Enoch lets us know that there are a group of 'Beings' called the 'Watchers'. In addition to mentioning Watchers, he also mentions Giants and Angels and that the Watchers used to be Angels but had evolved into higher 'Beings'.

It also included the story that said that the Watchers came down to Earth and bred with female humans and their offspring were Giants.

I think this was probably only added in order to explain the many numbers of giants that walked the Earth over 2000 years ago – for example there are 33 different races of Giants are mentioned in the Bible.

Personally, I think that offspring becoming Giants is highly unlikely because the size any babies would probably mean that mothers would die either before or during childbirth. What is more likely is that the Giants came into our matter frequency system from their own system (World). Just how is touched on later.

However, aside from that, it is what happens between Enoch and the Watchers, like Uriel, that reveals some further clues for us about the Watchers, what they are doing and how their role might be impacting us in the near future.

The Watchers took Enoch, a number of times, to an environment that is called the 'place of darkness'.

There they showed him the secrets of heaven and earth and 12 doors. Enoch described these doors as 6 portals to the West and 6 portals to the East. He was later told that these 12 portals were portals to the heavens. He then even went on to mention a time when he was taken to the highest 'Sphere' (Heaven) to meet the highest light 'Beings'.

This 'Place of darkness' is now sounding very like the Abyss that Rudolf Steiner describes on the journey to the Spirit worlds and it also seems very similar to the darkness described by Carl Jung when he went on his individual visualisations – which he noted down in his Black books and later compiled into his Red book.

We are also given further information as to just how this happened to Enoch.

He was taken to the mountain point whose summit reached up to heaven where he met 'Beings' from heaven and where he was shown a tower raised high above the earth. Here he was given a vision where he was able to see all that would befall mankind in the future. This included comets hitting the earth and floods and the biblical catastrophe we know as the Great Flood.

Being taken to the summit of a mountain to a sacred site is almost exactly what Jung experienced when he was taken there by Elijah – (perhaps now a person who has since evolved into a Watcher). Jung also saw Elijah light up in a column of light amidst light also going out from him in all directions.

This 'Tower raised high above the Earth' now seems very symbolic for a round column of light described earlier by the Council of Communion.

In addition to that, we are told that 200 Beings descended from Heaven (World of Spirit) onto the top of Mount Harmon. This is now very similar to many other ancient myths and stories where Beings and Giants come down from the Worlds of Spirit at the tops of mountains.

Here we have to possibly consider a sense of timing as we do not see Giants popping in and out just to pay us a visit whenever they want. It may well be that sacred sites at the tops of some special mountains are portals to the other Worlds that open and close at specific times with this times likely being linked to appropriate energetic conditions. This might happen for example every 2000 years perhaps – or perhaps only during the times of transition between epochs that are measured astronomically and also perhaps only at and around the times of the Solstices and the Equinoxes

Stone circles definitely are aligned in ways to be able to determine these times of the year so this may well have been why they became known as sacred site.

In the final part of the book of Enoch we find the Epistle of Enoch. The Epistle mentions something called 'The Apocalypse of Weeks'.

It tells of a vision Enoch had of a final judgement before the coming of a new heaven and a new earth and the halting of a long tirade against sinning.

The Apocalypse of Weeks is a brief recounting of human history as a series of weeks. It covers events spanning from the primordial era before the great flood all the way up to and even beyond our own future.

Enoch has been given this information in a vision where he is told this by the heavenly 'Beings' that he calls Angels.

A relevant example of perhaps where mankind is right now today is that in the Ninth Week there will be a righteous judgment where all sinners will depart from the earth and be "written off for eternal destruction." Those who are not judged as sinners will "direct their sight to the path of uprightness."

In the Tenth Week there will be a judgment executed by the Angels of heaven – the old heaven will pass away and a new heaven will appear; the powers of heaven will shine eternally sevenfold. This idea of a ‘new heaven’ can be found in the books of Isaiah (66:17-25) and Revelations (21:1) as well.

To me, it seems that Enoch was really being taught how to communicate with ‘Beings’ from other matter frequency Worlds and he was being taught how to become a prophet. This now seems and feel similar to the ‘Higher Beings’ and their helpful messages that are being channelled.

This Apocalypse of weeks now seems very familiar with what was mentioned at the start of this newsletter. The word Apocalypse really means revelation which means something will be revealed (Think here of the veils of humanity coming down so we can see much more – think too of our range of perception increasing such that we can become aware of so much more if we tune into this extension.)

Apocalypse – Revelations - Megiddo

In Revelations it is written that “He shall gather them together into a place called Armageddon (Har-Magedon - the Hill of Megiddo, or the Hill of Struggles) Here the Angels, with those they had gathered, are pitted against evil.”

In Zechariah it says “At the very moment of the Second Coming of our Lord, ‘all nations’ shall be gathered ‘against Jerusalem and the struggle of Armageddon will be in progress”.

In the Gospel of John, he writes “The kings of the earth and of the whole world’ will be gathered ‘to the battle of that great day of God Almighty into a place called Armageddon.”

All this gathering at the hill of Megiddo must be symbolic, because, although quite a big hill, it would never be large enough for all those people who wanted to gather in these ‘End of Times’.

At this stage it is worth adding a couple of extra interesting facts about the hill of Megiddo.

The first is that it is the site of a 4th order node, where two type 4 alignments cross over. We know this because the well-known dowser Hamish Miller dowsed the node here and wrote about it in the book ‘The Dance of the Dragon’.

The second is that in March 1975 Phyllis Schlemmer, Sir John Whitmore and Andrija Puharich were asked to spend three days at Megiddo.

It was the Council of Nine that had directed them to go to the top of the hill there and to an old altar that was an energy centre. I highly suspect that this was the same place that Hamish Miller had dowsed.

They also said that the Nazarene (Jesus) was aware of this energy centre and that it was what kept him sustained. (Roger goes into these things in more detail in his book)

For me it is wonderful to hear that both of these councils are encouraging people to go to these energy centres, but there has to be an even deeper reason behind why they are doing this.

The circular platform of stones that can be seen at the top of this hill is very similar to the sanctuaries called Gilgal in the Hebrew bible. The Hebrew word Gilgal even translates to mean 'Circle of Stones and these were places where Elijah and other prophets were written as having 'ascended in chariots' and to disappear and then later reappear at these places. This now seems very similar to materialisation and dematerialisation.

The Great Lost Secret of Freemasonry

This now brings me on to the riddles that Knight and Lomas tantalise us with at the end of their book.

The first is one is about the tower to heaven and what that might be. They write that an architect called Peleg was trying to build one. Just who Peleg is we cannot be sure but it is clear that looking to understand how to build one was important to the authors and they seem to have linked this to the building of the ancient stone circles but they were still wondering how these all worked.

The authors go on to mention a Great lost secret of Freemasonry and this was about trying to find the true meaning behind the building of King Solomon's temple and why it was connected to the positions of the Sun.

They went on to suggest that it was the secrets of astronomy that the Angel Uriel had taught Enoch and that this was where the answer to this great riddle could be found.

Perhaps, unknowing by them, they shine a light on the answer to this question by adding another riddle based around the Masonic degree of Noahites (After Noah of the flood and ark fame)

They write that the secret tradition of the Noahites came from Honi the circle maker.

Honi HaMe'agel was a 1st century Jewish Scholar (HaMe'agel means circle maker in Hebrew). He got his name because he was known for being able to make it rain when necessary.

He was said to be able to do this by drawing a circle in the dust and praying inside it. It is quite likely that he knew the relevance of where to draw the circle and how to connect in a way that could greatly assist with manifestations.

Before I continue here, it is important to mention that within their book, the Authors also write that they put their findings to Professor Otto Neugebauer of Princeton University. What resulted though was that he said that, the timings mentioned in the book of Enoch about the lengths of days, meant that it could not have been based on any accurate astronomy at all.

The Professor went on to say that Enoch was just trying to describe what he experienced and that it could not have possibly been linked to Astronomy.

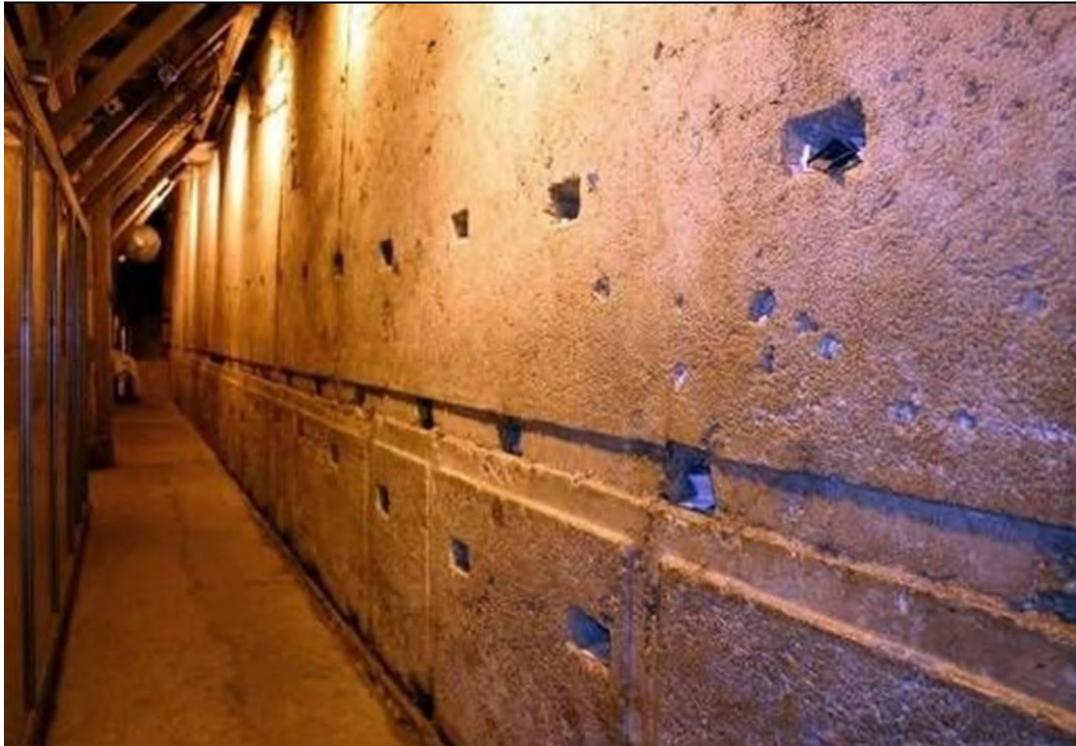

I tend to agree with the Professor here in that it is more likely that the ancient Stone Age people were far more attuned to the landscape and they had made their own observations of the stars. In other words, Angels were not needed to tell them how to do this.

Just by watching the stars and planets over long periods of time they would have easily been able to discover the Solstices and Equinoxes and even Eclipses. (The Antikythera mechanism found even proves this. https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Antikythera_mechanism. This complex machine even allowed them to predict these Eclipses – certainly too evidence of a fairly advanced past civilization)

Undeterred Knight and Lomas then went on to try and show that the ancient megalithic stone circles were part of a plan for a large calendar and that it did work if you took into account these circles at different latitudes on the Earth.

As I wrote earlier, it is far more likely that Uriel taught Enoch how to become a prophet and that he was able to foresee the future just as Carl Jung began to realise that he too had become a prophet when he correctly foresaw the advent of WW1.

When it comes to the secret about King Solomon's temple, we can see from the 700 ton Foundation Ashlar stones under the South Western corner walls on Temple mount, that these must be pre-Megalithic in age (12,000 years+ old). They are very closely fitting and mirror many other examples of this precisely cut stone work all around the World. These foundation stones were so big that the Romans could not even move them.

Temple mount in Jerusalem is also the site of a 4th order node and, from the shape of the hill there, it is likely that a rectangular wall of these exceeding large stones was put up to create a level area of Earth upon which large numbers of our ancient ancestors, several millenia before King Solomon, could gather on for their prayers and meditations.

Honi the Stone circle builder

Honi the circle builder provides us with the clue as this links stone circles and sacred sites to what we now know about columns of spiritual energy that can be found at these sites. As you will have read, this is then added credence by both the Council of Communion & Council of Nine mentioning the energies at these sites. The book of Enoch helps us link these sites to the Watchers and we can now see that the members of these two councils must now be considered as our modern day versions of the Watchers.

The great lost secret of Freemasonry however was never the Freemason's secret in the first place. It was never 'theirs' to lose.

The reason being is that these secrets instead were held far, far longer ago in the past. Freemasonry likes to link its secrets back to the Egyptian Pyramid builders and their Master masons.

The Pyramids were built with pre-Megalith stones at the base of them and there is polygonal masonry in the Valley temple. This clearly dates the original constructions on the Giza plateau as pre-dynastic Egyptian.

The real secrets, as I see them, were about the ways we can work with these sacred sites and just how to conduct ceremonies at these places. Ways that will help group meditators communicate with the Angels, the Watchers and the other 'Beings' on the other matter frequency Worlds of Spirit.

What is perhaps most significant though is that these secret abilities and skills also probably link to the times when it was energetically possible to do this far more effectively - in other words the cyclic times of transition.

It is the likes of Steiner, Goethe, Jung, Black Elk and several others, who have offered us glimpses of these secrets and what we can expect to happen as each of them have provided us with parts of the Universal prophecy.

We are just beginning to learn more about these ceremonies and indeed this is an activity we all need to share in during the coming times where there is so much separation between us. Rather than just blaming all the useless politicians in the West, we should remember our increasing energetic environment and the opportunity it now presents us. (Increasing cosmic energies, lowering magnetic field, Galactic current sheet)

It is with this quest for knowledge in mind that we can now return to look at the possible Da Vinci prophecy.

The Da Vinci prophecy emerges

The Watcher Uriel's name means 'God is my Light' and she is said to hold the key for the end of times.

One of Uriel's roles is to also 'watch'/assess mankind to see if we deserve to be saved.

If you now put all of this together you can begin to see that Leonardo maybe showing us a dream vision where Uriel is presenting us with a choice about some future event where there is a need for us to do something.

If this is the case, we should delve a little deeper to see what this activity might be that we need to do.

Looking closer, we can see that the two paintings present us with different viewpoints.

The emphasis on each baby is different in each painting is seemingly leading us to wonder if we are also being asked to choose between the meaning behind each one – the more spiritual gnostic Mandaean viewpoint of Christianity or the more mainstream religious doctrine being presented by the Roman church - The latter being through their adoption & promotion of Jesus being the son of God as part of their made up concept of the Trinity (something that the Nazarene did not himself espouse).

The takeaway clue for us again here is that the emphasis in the later painting is not on Jesus but on John. It is this that now leads us to see the greater emphasis here on the baby John and his action of clasping his hands together in prayer.

Considering all of this, in the later painting, Da Vinci is possibly giving us a message here that is telling us that Uriel, a Watcher & one of many 'higher beings' (Councils), is looking at us to see if we are going to come together and pray or meditate at the end of times as baby John (who represents gnostic spiritual thinking) is doing.

By painting Uriel here, as opposed to another Angel, we are also being told this is part of a prophecy where our actions will be judged. This is not a judgement though in the way the Roman church might want you to consider it, it is instead indication that there are paths and we need to choose the right one – preferably sooner rather than the harder way later on.

What we know from the Watchers though is that they don't just Watch and Judge us, they are here to help us. All 'Beings' go through this transition, everyone goes through it, but here on Earth (the planet of choice), the one thing any helper cannot do, is to make that choice for us.

The baby Jesus, with his hand is held up in typical blessing signal, is now showing us he is in complete agreement with John on this.

That is all set in a vision is a place that looks like an ancient sacred sites where there are dolmens and stone circles, a place where the likes of Uriel can be summoned and can easily travel to from her World of Spirit where she normally resides, is telling us of the relevancy of doing this meditation and prayer at these sites. The more recent communications from the councils are also supporting this message.

If this phrase 'end of times' may seem to concern you, do not worry, the 'end of times' is most likely referring to the transitions between each epochs. This is significant because right now we are moving out of the time of Pisces and into the time of Aquarius.

This 'end of times' transition now seem to be matched by one written and spoken about by Rudolf Steiner back in 1915 where he speaks about us soon moving from the 5th epoch into the 6th epoch.

Da Vinci is telling us here that Watchers like Uriel, continue to watch and help Mankind to see the choices we make and to help us, when we ask.

Before you decide if this is a prophecy that could be attributed to Da Vinci, we ought to look at other written experiences about Watchers in other cultures around the World.

Who are the Watchers? What are they looking for & Why? What must we do?

The Earlier Watchers

In the bible we find a story about the Watchers in an early Babylonian tale about their chief God Marduk.

In the story Marduk said the following:-

“I sent craftsman (called the Apkallu) down to Apsu. I ordered them not to come up.” (Apsu, and her companion Tiamat, are said to be watery deities on Earth & they are portrayed as Giant Serpents.)

Marduk continued by saying:-

“I changed the location of the Mesu-tree and the el mesu-stone and did not show it to anybody. The Mesu-tree is described with roots reaching down to the Underworld and whose top reached up to the heavens.”

The Mesu tree is a regional name for the globally symbolised ‘Tree of life’ and is mentioned in the tale of Gilgamesh. (The Epic of Gilgamesh is an epic poem from ancient Mesopotamia, regarded as the earliest surviving notable literature and the second oldest religious text, after the Pyramid Texts.)

We get further confirmation in that story of a connection to it being cut down with the sentence “When the Earth had been separated from the heavens”.

What seems to be being described here is a Tree of Life & a stone that anchors the energy lines at a sacred site where growing a tree of life becomes possible. It also seems to be describing to us that ‘Beings’ can be sent down to Earth and that they can come back up again to the Light Sphere Worlds of Spirit.

There is also a description of a time of separation from these Worlds of Spirit and we know from other prophecies there are times when there are permanent bridges between all the Worlds of Spirit. This is hinting at something cyclic where humanity on Earth are sometimes on our own with our individual consciousness and there are other times when we are united within a common consciousness with the Beings of all humanity.

There is also mention of the Apkallu, craftsmen who could make these journeys.

This knowledge though does not yet connect us to the Watchers. For that we must go back to just before the Babylonians. (The Tower of Babel, mentioned in Genesis 11.v1-9, was a tower that was said to stand in the heart of Babylon. It was said that it reached up to the heavens and this was at a time when everyone knew everyone else’s language – this sounds like telepathy to me and another reference to common consciousness and connections to the Worlds of Spirit. I am also wondering at the connection here between towers and columns of light and round towers and Grail castles).

The Sumerian Annunaki

Before the Babylonians came along, the Sumerians had a name for all their Gods – the Annunaki. Bearing in mind the previous labelling of gods, we might wonder if these are really referring to ‘Beings’ and the same as the ones mentioned earlier.

The Sumerians divided their gods up into several types. The Nephelim were one group who were ‘Beings’ who were said to have ‘descended’ from heaven.

Heaven again is likely to be just referring to one of the Spirit Worlds. They considered that there were several heavens and that different ‘Beings’ lived on different Worlds. (Something that Ron Pearson’s science fully explains)

One of the groups of their Annunaki were called the Igigi. The word translates roughly to ‘eyes’.

Igigi was the name given to them because they were said to be the Watchers.

The Egyptian Enneads

In Egyptian mythology, the Egyptian Enneads were said to be groups of gods. Different regions appeared to have different numbers of gods in their groups.

The Great Ennead of Heliopolis consists of a group of nine gods - The Sun God Atum; his children Shu and Tefnut, their children Geb and Nut; and their children Osiris, Isis, Set and Nephthys. This Ennead sometimes also includes Horus whose background and history very closely matches that of Jesus..

In the Pyramid texts of Dynasties V and VI it is mentioned that as well as the "Great Ennead", the other following ones were also established The "Lesser Ennead", the "Dual Ennead", and the "Seven Enneads". There is even a record of the Ennead of Thebes having 15 gods who were worshipped.

We have read and heard before that some people have been previously called Gods, but others later on, have referred them to be ‘Higher Beings’ or Angels. We have to possibly consider here that these Egyptian Enneads, or groups of ‘Gods’ too could also be considered as councils with members in that are also just more highly evolved ‘Beings’.

At this point we need to do some serious thinking about what may or may not be going on and what is possible and what might be likely.

We seem to be being told that Beings (Annunaki) from the Worlds of Spirit (Heavens) can physically appear on Earth and that there are amongst them Beings that keep an eye on us (Igigi).

The Annunaki do not seem to be that different from the Babylonian Apkallu and their Mesu trees which we must consider to also be linked to the sacred sites like the ones the stone circle builders like Honi constructed, or reconstructed.

Slightly more recently, but still a few thousand years ago, we read of stories in the old testament where the term Gilgal appears 39 times in different books and in different places. (Gilgal's are also sometimes known as Galgala or the Galgalatokai of the 12 Stones). There is one near the river Jordan where it was written that the prophet Joshua disappeared (dematerialised) up in a whirlwind (vortex?).

Another example is that there was a Gilgal at Mount Gerazim – a very holy place for the Samaritans. Indeed there are hundreds of circles of stones (Gilgal) in Israel.

In the book '2 Kings.2', we read of Elijah and Elisha going up in a chariot of fire at a Gilgal.

In the New testament (Matthew 17.v1-9) we find that the Nazarene (Jesus) spoke with Moses and Elijah at the top of Mount Tabor (Although some people think it was Mount Hermon). This was also witnessed by the disciples Peter, James and John, who were later told not to mention to anyone what they had seen. This event was also later labelled by the Roman church as a 'transfiguration'.

That the Nazarene and his followers could witness these appearances of these two prophets, who had passed over to the World of Spirit hundreds of years before, is most interesting especially as, even more recently, others have received apparitions of Beings who must have been extremely highly evolved.

You might wish to recall the children of Fatima in Portugal and of Medjugorge in Bosnia Herzegovina who all saw a female divine 'Being' who told them about future events that would happen in the World.

Did they actually see the Angel Uriel, we may not ever know this, but we do have to entertain the very real situation that we have Watchers today looking out for us and who are trying to help us and who can physically appear in front of us in daylight.

Remember here that in both cases the children only ever said that they had seen a very special woman. It was the Roman churches representatives that were quick to label them as apparitions of the Virgin Mary.

It would appear that some 'Beings' seem to be able to materialise and dematerialise here on Earth. Some seem to be able to also communicate telepathically with a few people on Earth, and some seem to also receive messages from them through dreams and meditations and channellings.

We have to now consider it possible that at times when the energetic conditions are strong enough, or when 'Beings' have evolved to a high enough level, that actual physical materialisations are possible between Worlds.

It is here that we can take a closer look at one of the statements that the Council of Communion told the medium Phyllis Schlemmer. They said that the 'Nazarene' (Jesus) was one of their members.

The Nazarenes were known as a Spiritual community around 2000 years ago. Perhaps strangely for quite a geographically widespread community, we are told by the Roman church that the word Nazarene is applied to those people who come from the village of Nazareth. That does not now seem to be correct.

Jesus, or Isa, as his name was known in Arabic was deemed, by many people in the Middle East, to be Muslim prophet rather than a son of God. Instead he was thought of as a messenger from God as other prophets were also thought to be messengers.

The reason the word 'Nazarene' does not link with Nazareth is that 'Nazar' in Arabic is a word that means sight, surveillance and attention. Arabic 2000 years ago was a central semitic language and closely related to Aramaic, the language Jesus spoke and one common to the area then.

In Urdu, an Indo-Aryan language spoken chiefly in South Asia, Nazar means 'a look, glance or a vision'. (Thank you Nadia for sharing this with me two weeks ago).

This would strongly seem to suggest that the word 'Nazarene' is a word that describes an 'ability' rather than a 'location'.

It seems more logical to now consider the Nazarenes to be members of a group of 'Beings' who were Watchers or who were connected to Watchers through prayer and meditation.

In the Book of Enoch we are told that the Angels/ Watchers (Apkallu, Igigi etc.) came down into the World at the top of Mount Hermon. (Another sacred site).

Was this why the Nazarene and his disciples often gathered at the tops of mountains and hills?

All through time, and all around the World, it appears that different words have been used to describe the same group of higher beings who find ways to make contact with us.

More recently it has been through mediums like Phyllis Schlemmer with the Council of 9 and Diana and Alan Bennett with the 13 member Council of Communion and also one other lady called Alice Bailey.

The Ascended Masters

Alice Bailey, 1880-1949, was a writer of more than twenty-four books on Theosophy. The teachings of Theosophy are said to be about the Universal consciousness (God) and Spirituality, in this World, based on mystical insight

Alice described the majority of her work as having been telepathically dictated to her (now known also as channelling) by a Master of Wisdom. They were also known as Masters of Ascended Wisdom, Masters of Light and Ascended Masters and they were thought to be dwelling in the Worlds of Spirit.

Jesus, St Jermaine & Elijah were all considered as part of this group of Masters but no numbers of how many of them there are have been mentioned. Collectively though, they have also been called - The Elohim & the Archangels.

Bailey's writings include a detailed exposition of the "seven rays" which are presented as the fundamental energies that are behind and exist throughout all manifestation. They are seen as the basic creative forces of the universe and emanations of Divinity that underlie the evolution of all things.

Emanations and the basic forces of the Universe match very closely with Ron Pearson's interacting waves of vibrational energy at the Sub Quantum level that produce spikes of energy and particles on the larger different matter frequency Worlds at the quantum level.

When looking to answer the question 'Who are the Watchers?' it would seem that the names different given to many groups of 'Higher Beings' from World of Spirit are all really referring to the same thing – but none of them are Gods.

Apkallu, Annunaki, Igigi, Angels, Archangels, Elohim, Ascended Masters can all be called Watchers and they all seem to be members of Groups or Councils or Enneads who used to live in this World, our matter frequency system, but who now live in the Worlds of Spirit.

One of the main aims of these 'Beings' seems to be one of helping other lesser evolved 'Beings' (ie ourselves) to grow and evolve at the key evolutionary times that come round in cycles where all 'Beings' get a chance to make the transition.

We are also told by Rudolf Steiner and others that 'we receive help from these higher beings at times of transition' between the epochs and that this time it will be no different. Indeed it has already started with all the prophecies people have been getting and kindly sharing with everyone.

It seems important now that more of us become prophets. This is actually easier to do than you might think. This is one other reason why the 'Sacred path' modules have been put together and one of the reasons why I run my dowsing courses.

We simply must become better at communicating between our conscious and subconscious mind as this is the very essence of becoming good at dowsing. It is also the gateway to becoming a medium and a good prophet. It has to be said though that dowsing is not the only way to do this, there are others.

Division, Separation and Our choice

Finally we must get to the reason behind all of this and it is here we must return to the beginning of this newsletter when I wrote about division and separation and just how this is co-existent at these times of transition.

The Watchers know of the dangers for all humanity during these times of transition but they also have to honour what appears to be the prime directive for life – that of growth and helping others to grow through the choices we make.

These times of change represent extraordinary times for growth as they are evolutionary.

Overcoming the propaganda that leads to divide, conquer, subdue and control and then overcoming the separation that leads to social isolation, despair and sadness, is what we must do and the path we must tread.

The Watchers know that by helping those people who are on that path, they will have the maximum impact on helping us through this transitional period.

They know that by helping the few, those people will be able to go on to help others. The growing energy brought through will then stir others to join and be helped as well.

Our evolution and transformation during this transition needs to be done through our own choice as we live on the 'planet of choice' for a reason.

With the Watchers awakening people through dreams meditations, visions, they are still allows us this choice. However they are also helping to provide us with the motivation to go on and make the necessary changes in our life.

They appear to have been watching and helping us in this way for many centuries – we just need to listen and to become more aware of the information they are kindly giving us and to change within ourselves, rather than seek to change others.

Awakening is more than just knowing, it is about making the change within.

When we do that, we ignite our inner fire, the buddhic flame and we can further enlighten the towers and columns of energy at the sacred sites so they grow in power. It is now time to get just a glimpse of what that might look like.

Earth Energy section

If you know the name of this ancient site you are already amongst the few who do, if you know one of its two other names – kudos to you. I myself confess to not having known its third name. Knowing more about this place though takes some thought. Yes it is a stone circle but it is actually one of the most complete circles ever found – many others have stones missing and there may well be a few missing at this site too.

What I find curious is to try and envisage what this place originally looked like when it was built. Was it just a circle of stones? Or was there more here? The images shown perhaps provide some clues.

What really helps though is having been here recently and having enjoyed some wonderful weather there last month.

Firstly there are some stones that are very close to each other in the circle and in one of the images two extra stones lie just outside the circle on its South East side making it look like an opening, a way in even. Others in the past have suggested this but this actually makes it different from many other stone circles.

One of the reasons this circle has so many stones in situ still is that this is a sheep farming area. It was just not worthwhile for the farmer to take away the stones so the field could be ploughed. It is also in a very remote part of the UK so has lain out of sight for centuries and this too has afforded it some protection.

Even back in the Neolithic times, this would not have been a very populated place and it is high enough up to attract some pretty fierce weather at times. This too may be a factor in how this site originally looked. Energetically it is a place where two type 4 energy lines from a pair cross over along with two pairs of type 3, 2 and 1 lines.

It is therefore a 5th order node but there are stronger ones – for example the 5th order node at Avebury stone circle has 8 pairs of type 3, 2 and 1 lines. Of note is that the centres of the main type 4 lines do not enter the circle through its possible entrance way mentioned earlier.

Some circles have processional avenues of stones that guide the larger lines into the circles but this is not found here. Its diameter is only about 27 meters wide – much smaller than many other circles.

All of this information invites us to ask whether all stone circles were similar in the way they looked when they were built.

I think not and much determined on the nature of the place. Here I sense that this place once covered to provide some protection from the harsh weather. It may well have had Earth piled up outside the ring of stones and some kind of timber frame roof.

However there may also have been deliberate holes that allowed this windy place to produce certain sounds. I wondered about this because of another amazing place I came across on this line.

This sacred site sits on an extremely significant type 4 alignment which runs through some incredible sites.

I will mention a few of these sites now but there are many still to be found as the ley crosses Europe to another fabulous megalithic site. It was at this site that made me think of the holes and the sounds made by the wind whistling through them.

Just to start somewhere on the alignment, we can begin at the Ballynoe stone circle (shown below) in Ulster in Northern Ireland.

Around 50 monoliths of granite are set in a circle about 100meter in diameter which contains a nicely enigmatic basin dipping down in its centre.

With two type 4 earth energy lines running through it and heading roughly East South-East, it crosses the Irish sea, through a node at the top of Sartfell, a mountain on the isle of Man and then into the Lake District where it runs through the Swinside stone circle.

Swinside is name of the stone circle in the image at the start of this section. Its other names are Swineshead and Sunkenkirk.

From there the alignment runs through a 4th order node near to the Scar house reservoir in Yorkshire. (Details on this location will soon be up on the new Sacred network website.)

From there the alignment passes through the Rudston monolith.

The above is an image of the Rudston – Britain's tallest monolith at 25 feet high (nearly 8 metres) with a maximum width of 2 metres. This can be found inland from Flamborough on the North sea coast of Yorkshire in the village of Rudston.

The 'Rud Stone' name in 'Old' English was 'Rood stane' which translates to mean "cross-stone". You have to wonder if this was to do with the crossing of the type 3 energy lines here thus making it a 5th order node.

Moving it may have been a problem for the builders of the church behind it a few thousand years later. You might well wonder how this 40 ton plus piece of Millstone grit (A coarse grained sandstone) was moved from the nearest possible quarry at least 20 miles away. (I very much doubt those who say a glacier moved it.)

The alignment then crosses the North sea into Europe and all the way down into a country that sits between the Caspian sea and the Black sea.

It is here in Armenia that we come across the Carahunge stone circle.

This stone circle pictured above is located high in the highlands of Southern Armenia and it seems possible that this may be the oldest stone observatory in the world.

According to newly started excavations, the Armenian Stonehenge (As it has also been labelled over there) has been around for 7500 years.

It can be found in the Syunik province near the city of Sisian high up on a mountain plateau.

It has a central stone circle consisting for 40 stones but also a short line of stones heading out to the North & South. In addition to that it has a North East alley way. All in all 223 stones have been counted at this site.

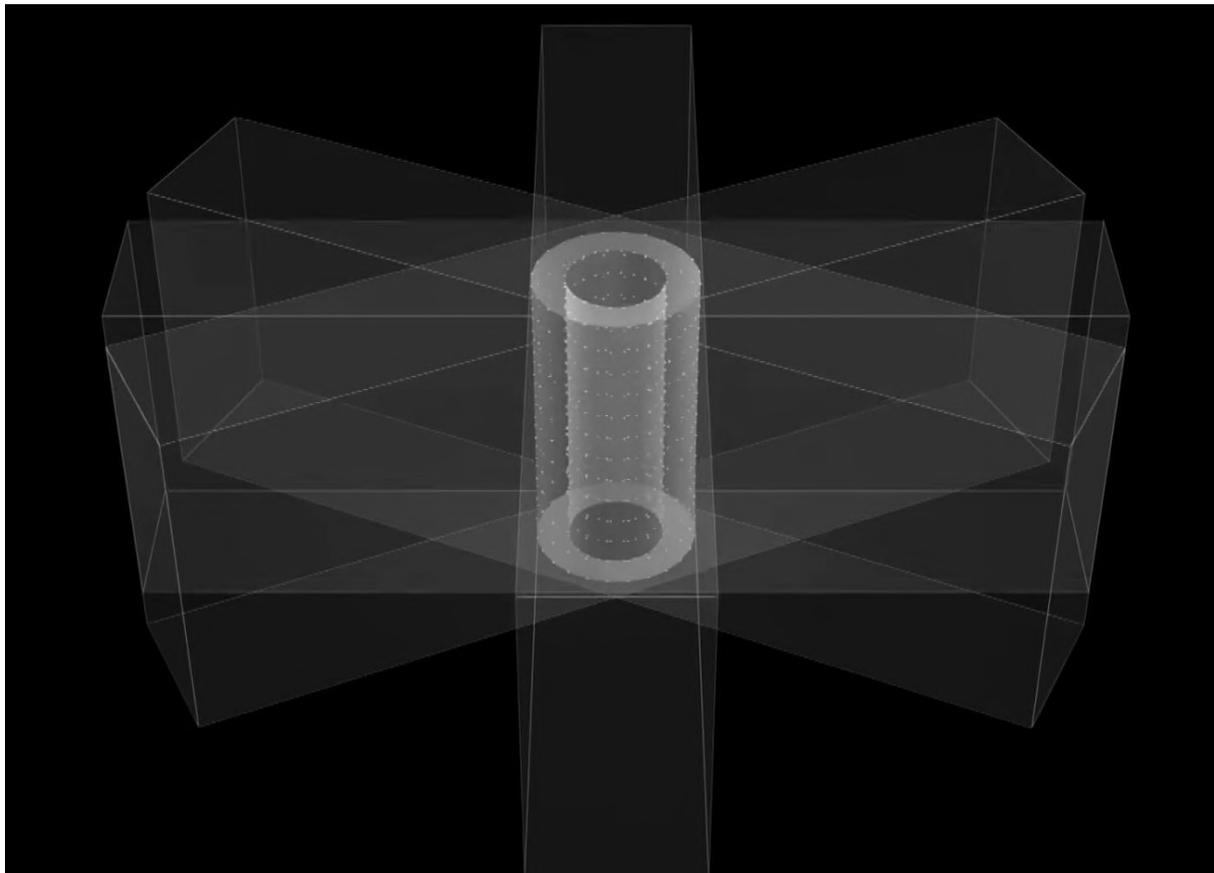

Some of the larger stones are known as 'Zorats Karer'. This translates to Stone warriors. The word Karer translates to mean stones, whilst the name Hunge (Hunj) translates to mean 'voice or sound' (Not Henge).

It was found that 80 stones at this site had holes in them and when the wind blows here, which is regularly, whistling sounds can be heard. The name Karahunge or 'Sounding stones' was probably given to it because of this phenomenon.

Its name means 'speaking stones' as they are said to make whistling sounds on a windy day.

We can again wonder here about the connection with sound and the extremely low vibrational frequencies of these energy lines. Resonance between them was obviously of key importance to the builders of these sites.

It is at this point I wanted to tie in this section with the theme of this newsletter.

In the above image you can see a representation of cut away segments of two pairs of energy lines as they cross each other at a symmetrical node. The energy formation a symmetrical node naturally makes is cylindrical. This rotating cylinder goes up into the atmosphere and deep down into the ground. A few people get glimpses of this normally invisible energy and they describe it as having a golden colour. The image below shows a representation of this golden cylinder of energy at the Swinside node.

In my book Grail Found, I write about Eleazar's Heiroglyphic figures. These drawings are shown to be likely very similar to what the Knights found in the tunnels underneath Temple mount in Jerusalem (The site of another 4th order node).

Eleazar, describes their content as follows:- "I have sketched in these figures the secrets of the great world and also its meaning according to its inner secret understanding."

He also goes on to write:- "The whole secret of the art is that we extract the spirit of the Python" & "If you can fasten the Serpent Python to the cross with a golden nail – you will lack nothing in wisdom".

My book aims to show the link between the serpents and the horizontal and vertical energy lines and their intersections at sacred sites and in particular – the largest and most powerful one in Europe.

In the Gnostic gospels the Serpent in the Garden of Eden was known as the Instructor or Teacher and was said to be connected to the tree of knowledge found at these sacred sites where meditation extends our consciousness up and over to the Worlds of Spirit. This extension is known as growing our 'tree' up the axis mundi – the Egyptian 'Axis of the mound'.

Fastening the cross (where the energy lines cross over each other) with a golden nail can now be seen as similar to the golden columns of energy that reach upwards and downwards at these symmetrical sacred sites when groups or individuals meditate or pray on them.

The columns are the pure spiritual energy the council of communion (13) mention. They are the passages of communication with the spirit World. They are the pathways between the Spirit realms.

They are turning columns of energy that vibrate outwards in many directions. They energise us and keep the flame of the divine light within us still burning. It is these that the council of 9 tell us sustained the Nazarene – the prophet and they are the places we can gather to make the World a far better and safer place for everyone.

When we gather at sacred sites, we connect with Spirit and it is this connection, when we do it the right way that brings these columns of light, the golden nails, into existence and that is when we bring in huge levels of energy with positive intent into the World.

In the image below, I have tried to show what this might look like across Southern England. Each column represents a known sacred site that can be found via the Sacred Network sites map and where you can register an interest in joining, or even initiate, an onsite group meditation.

The above image is just showing a few of the Sacred site locations where column of light are being created at the harmony times. It is hoped we can ignite these fires in many more places around the World in the years to come.

Media section

This newsletter could be considered by some as pretty deep and hard going so I would like to try and add some relaxation at this point.

Some time ago now, I met & became friends with a lovely lady in Bristol (Helen C.), Helen had spent many years in her youth living in the region of Southern France. The Cathars had drawn particular interest to her (with her past life connections) and this led her to explore the area and to meet some wonderful people. Her time there also led her to visit some incredible and relatively unknown places.

On hearing, I was planning to visit the region a few years ago, she suggested some sites I might like to visit and that I should make contact with a gentleman called Christian Koenig.

Christian lived in Ussat-Les-Bains in the Ariège region and he is a man with an incredible talent and a wealth of knowledge of the past activities of the Cathars. He was also the curator of a museum that held much of the work of a man called Antonin Gadal.

Antonin Gadal (1877-1962) was a French mystic and historian who dedicated his life to study of the Cathars. Gadal valued spiritual history and looked forward to when the Gnosis of the Cathars would once again find its way into the hearts of humanity.

He was also the person that Grail researcher Otto Rahn, in the early 1930's, had turned to for more information in order to write his books about looking for the Holy Grail.

Meeting Christian and listening to him talk about Gadal and the Cathars was a great pleasure for me and I really wish I could have spent more time there with him.

My short time there though, helped me write one part of my novel 'The Grail Hunter' and about the private museum in Tarascon-sur- Ariège as that was what Christian had kindly showed me around.

In the novel, the heroine Rowena Colleen is invited to the Lombrives Cave in Ussat-Les-Bains where she listens to a concert in the Cathedral chamber. The following is a short extract from the book at the time the concert is about to start:-

"Flûte de Pan" Bernard whispered next to me. "That's Christian Koenig." A long and high haunting single note began the concert. It echoed around the cave from wall to wall in a way that produced a kind of natural 'surround sound'.

More notes followed breathing life into the air all around us. The haunting music moved smoothly and sinuously into a faster more playful beat. It lifted up ones spirit in a way that led to a feeling joy. Smiles began to appear on the faces around me.

As if we'd had too much of that a subtle shift of rhythm led us back down again. Lower and slower notes followed bringing a feeling of peace to the very soul of our hearts.

My more mellowed mind moved on and soon I was soaring with the wings of a swallow in the spring. The fresh air ran right through me refreshing me to the very core.

Now the tones switched to higher scales and, as they did, a tingling sensation ran up my spine as though I was now being personally tuned to the music by the pipes themselves.

What was happening? I tried to turn to the others but I was transfixed and spellbound like a child who'd been led gently into following behind the piper pied.

A tipsy light headedness filled my mind and the cave began to spin. It span and span for so long until the master, knowing it may be too much for many, moved his music on once more.

Down it went again with soothing basal notes that brought with it an emerging ache deep within me of a long lost love sweetly remembered.

I was being played and every cell in my body was resonating with everything around me. I was incapable of any more thoughts at all.

An unknown length of time later and my mind drifted back into slight awareness of what was going on around me. I slowly noticed that I was still upright but now being supported by Barnard who now held both my shoulders with a strong right arm across them both.

The music had ended and a dullness slowly swept across me. It felt as though I was being gradually let back down to the painful reality of living again in this physical World."

I really wished when writing this section that I could have given the reader a chance to listen to that music in that underground rock chamber – but now I can.

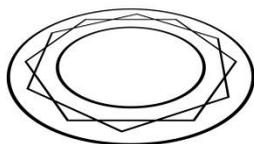

Please sit back and listen the very, very talented Christian Koenig play the pan pipes inside the Cathedral chamber in the cave of Lombrives.

With Christian's music having hopefully lifted your Spirit, I would like you to read on to some good news in the next section

SACRED NETWORK

The good news that I mentioned at the start of this newsletter is that the new website that sits on encrypted decentralised servers is now up and running. The trustees have had a chance to look it over and register and a couple of small bits of further action are being taken. This will not take long so next week just over 200 founding members will be invited to register and set up user names and profile pages. They will be doing this and setting up private and public groups with discussion forums over the next 6 weeks.

The planned go live date for everyone else will be on the 10th December. I will send out another newsletter on that date.

We had some last minute glitches with uploading images on to an encrypted environment and the email configurations had a similar issue when it came to sending out verifications and notifications. The email issue has been sorted and final work has now been scheduled to sort out the uploading problem.

The good news too is that we have completed this stage under budget and there is room for suggestions and our planned enhancements. The idea was to not make it too complex at first sight.

I still have lots of work to do in regards to putting up the many sites around the World that I am aware of and that will probably take a few months to do. I have tabled in a regular time slot to do this though.

It has to be said that we need to thank Paul Mac the developer for all his input and also Will L. and his team at Edge - Joe and Victor. Thanks also to Amanda & Ashley too for their help in designing the logo. I have added this above. The two circles represent a cross section of the annulus region of the columns of energy so it feels very appropriate with the theme and content of this newsletter. As for the design within the two circles, I will add the thinking and the symbolism behind that somewhere in the new website.

Witches round table talk

I was kindly asked a few weeks ago if I would like to do a talk at the Witches round table and wondered how that invitation might have felt like 20 years ago.

This though is a Global online summit that is calling forth a new wave of witches and sorcerers to return home to ancient source.

Of their many aims one is the helping in the creation of the new Earth and preparing for the Golden age. It is being run by Eimear Stassin who is a trainer, soul based coach, speaker and sacred storyteller. She helps witches, wise ones and healers to rise up and return to their power.

It is on for a few days and my live slot is 4.00pm UK time on Monday 7th November if you would like to listen to me talk about the following subject:-

Title - The return to group consciousness, what this means and how we must prepare so that groups can work more effectively with Earth energies.

The power of Witches over the years can perhaps be acknowledge by the degree in which certain groups of people in power have used and abused them.

There are so many reasons why I want to do this talk but one of them is that I want to challenge them to reach their full potential by getting them to look at how they currently work in groups and how they can improve upon that by integrating their practice more at symmetrical earth energy line nodes.

If they can do that, we are going to find they can provide a huge boost I helping all humanity evolve towards group consciousness.

Winter gathering

People often ask me where I am going to be at the next harmony time group meditation. The answer I give for the winter solstice time gatherings is that we should all look to travel the least distance possible.

The reason is that in that in the Northern hemisphere at the higher latitudes the weather becomes less clement and with less daylight hours, I do not want to encourage long journeys. For me this year I am going to my nearest 5th order node, which also happens to be the nearest 5th order node to the city of Bath where I run my dowsing courses.

If you can work out where that is, you are very welcome to join me there at midday.

The day the harmony time starts is Tuesday 20th December – one day before the solstice. It looks as though the double torus energy formation that forms during these times will last until the 9th or 10th of January so there is a great window of opportunity for groups to go to their favourite sites.

Closing message

There is much that remains that should be said but this is more than enough for now.

My next newsletter aims to come out on the 1st February. I need the extra month because of the huge amount of work I know is coming over the next three months.

It has to be said that the next three months will bring great changes too. All I would say on this is to stay positive, have no fear, this is all part of the collective journey across the abyss of darkness and the times of transition we are in.

Instead think of being inside the prism as our individual frequencies come together.

Just go with the flow and humanity will emerge into the white light of love and unity consciousness.

Blessings and gratitude to all of you and thank you so much for the time you have taken to read this missive.
